

PUBLIC TRANSPARENCY REPORT

2023

Desjardins Investment Inc.

Generated 15-12-2023

About this report

PRI reporting is the largest global reporting project on responsible investment. It was developed with investors, for investors.

PRI signatories are required to report publicly on their responsible investment activities each year. In turn, they receive a number of outputs, including a public and private Transparency Report.

The public Transparency Reports, which are produced using signatories' reported information, provide accountability and support signatories to have internal discussions about their practices and to discuss these with their clients, beneficiaries, and other stakeholders.

This public Transparency Report is an export of the signatory's responses to the PRI Reporting Framework during the 2023 reporting period. It includes the signatory's responses to core indicators, as well as responses to plus indicators that the signatory has agreed to make public.

In response to signatory feedback, the PRI has not summarised signatories' responses – the information in this document is presented exactly as it was reported.

For each of the indicators in this document, all options selected by the signatory are presented, including links and qualitative responses. In some indicators, all applicable options are included for additional context.

Responsible investment definitions

Within the PRI Reporting Framework Glossary, we provide definitions for key terms to guide reporting on responsible investment practices in the Reporting Framework. These definitions may differ from those used or proposed by other authorities and regulatory bodies due to evolving industry perspectives and changing legislative landscapes. Users of this report should be aware of these variations, as they may impact interpretations of the information provided.

Data accuracy

This document presents information reported directly by signatories in the 2023 reporting cycle. This information has not been audited by the PRI or any other party acting on its behalf. While this information is believed to be reliable, no representations or warranties are made as to the accuracy of the information presented.

The PRI has taken reasonable action to ensure that data submitted by signatories in the reporting tool is reflected in their official PRI reports accurately. However, it is possible that small data inaccuracies and/or gaps remain, and the PRI shall not be responsible or liable for such inaccuracies and gaps.

Section 1. Our commitment

- Why does your organisation engage in responsible investment?
- What is your organisation's overall approach to responsible investment, and what major responsible investment commitment(s) have you made?

Desjardins aims to foster an economic development respectful of people and the environment. We believe that economic players have a responsibility toward their communities and their territories, and must act accordingly. This is why our investment solutions seek to promote business practices and corporate governance that are respectful of communities and the environment. As a manager of investment products, the primary responsibility of Desjardins Investments Inc. is to safeguard the medium- and long-term interests of holders, while seeking to grow their capital by investing in issuing companies with good potential for profitability.

Our overall responsible investment approach is described in our publicly available Desjardins Funds Responsible Investment (RI) Policy. Our responsible investment strategies are implemented at two key times:

- When selecting securities, to exclude or choose companies based on ESG-related criteria.
- When monitoring and managing investments, in order to encourage companies to improve their practices regarding ESG issues.

The RI Policy applies to all Desjardins Funds.

The approaches will vary, however: Desjardins SocieTerra Funds, which are RI funds, are managed using ESG objectives. SocieTerra Portfolios benefit from the implementation strategies applicable to each Desjardins SocieTerra Fund in which they invest. Traditional Desjardins Funds make use of responsible investment strategies, but with lower requirements regarding certain aspects.

Our stewardship approach is described in our Desjardins Funds Stewardship Policy which details how we intend to apply stewardship levers in order to protect medium and long term interest of holders, and beyond, the collectivity and the planet.

Our structured product line is also governed by a responsible investment policy tailored to the specificities of this product line.

Desjardins intends to remain a recognized leader in responsible investment. To do so, we make the following commitments:

- Maintaining exemplary practices and staying abreast of changes in ESG issues.

- Annual public reporting of our activities and results in terms of shareholder engagement by making use of best practices, notably the PRI framework.
- Contributing to the training of dealer representatives.
- Informing the general public, including Desjardins Funds holders, and raising awareness about what responsible investment is.

Section 2. Annual overview

- Discuss your organisation's progress during the reporting year on the responsible investment issue you consider most relevant or material to your organisation or its assets.
- Reflect on your performance with respect to your organisation's responsible investment objectives and targets during the reporting year. Details might include, for example, outlining your single most important achievement or describing your general progress on topics such as the following (where applicable):
 - refinement of ESG analysis and incorporation
 - stewardship activities with investees and/or with policymakers
 - collaborative engagements
 - attainment of responsible investment certifications and/or awards

Desjardins Investments has taken important steps during the reporting year to continuously improve our responsible investment practices.

We made commitments and focused on issues that, beyond investment value, have a systemic impact on society and the planet.

- We set out a net zero ambition for Desjardins Investments and signed up to the Net Zero Asset Managers Initiative
- We committed to understanding our biodiversity risks and impacts and became a signatory of the Finance for Biodiversity Pledge
- We endorsed the PRI Advance initiative and aim to deepen our approach as regards human rights

We worked on enhancing the application of RI approaches in our assets under management to better reflect our expertise and engagement towards responsible investment:

- We published our first Desjardins Funds Stewardship Policy, and updated our Proxy Voting Policy
- We defined and assessed the level of ESG integration across all Desjardins Funds
- We revised our ESG due diligence questionnaire used to assess the ESG performance of our external portfolio managers
- We made improvements to proxy voting execution and disclosure

We also took action to equip Desjardins Investments with a best-in-class RI governance.

The creation of the RI Steering Committee will increase the accountability and efficiency of our RI decision-making.

Section 3. Next steps

- What specific steps has your organisation outlined to advance your commitment to responsible investment in the next two years?

In the coming years, and in line with the expectations of our members and clients, we will continue to incorporate ESG factors into investment decision-making. Furthermore, we will continue our work focused on contributing to sustainable outcomes through our responsible investment activities, with special attention given to our three thematic priorities: climate change, biodiversity and human rights. We will also continue to dedicate substantial effort in investor and advisor education to deliver on our ambition to be the Canadian financial institution most involved in responsible investment education and democratization.

Has your organisation identified climate-related risks and opportunities affecting your investments?

- (A) Yes, within our standard planning horizon

Specify the risks and opportunities identified and your relevant standard planning horizon:

We undertook a qualitative analysis of climate-related risks affecting our investments, both within our standard planning horizon through an organization-wide assessment, and beyond our standard planning horizon through our own (Desjardins Investments) assessment. Results were similar for both timeframes.

For climate-related transition risks, we identified that risks stemming from policy and regulation (changes in energy policy and economic incentives, as well as disclosure and greenwashing), technological evolution (changes in energy production, storage and distribution) and members and clients' behaviors (orientation towards climate finance, stigmatization of carbon intensive activities) were the highest for our investments in the energy sector.

Indeed, such risks could lead to write-offs or early retirement of existing assets in this sector. We also identified that uncertainty in market movements could pose a moderate risk to the financial sector.

With regards to physical risks, we found that the industrials sector could be moderately affected given our exposure to specific regions impacted by droughts and floods. We also identified that the energy sector could be somewhat affected by physical risks including wildfires, water stress and storms.

Overall, there are many opportunities arising from the transition, such as improving resource efficiency, shifting to less carbon intensive energy sources and developing new products and services. Specifically for the IT sector, we have identified climate-related opportunities stemming from legal & market events, as well as technology shifts. This sector could benefit from changing customers preferences, stigmatization of carbon intensive sectors and substitution of existing products and services for low-carbon alternatives.

(B) Yes, beyond our standard planning horizon

Does your organisation integrate climate-related risks and opportunities affecting your investments in its overall investment strategy, financial planning and (if relevant) products?

(A) Yes, our overall investment strategy, financial planning and (if relevant) products integrate climate-related risks and opportunities

Describe how climate-related risks and opportunities have affected or are expected to affect your investment strategy, financial planning and (if relevant) products:

The Desjardins SocieTerra Funds and Portfolios use several strategies to take part in the transition to a low-carbon economy and leverage climate opportunities. These focus on: considering environmental issues in all investments, low-carbon strategies, investments that focus on environmental solutions and implementing constructive dialogue with businesses to improve their practices. The SocieTerra line does not invest in companies that generate a major portion of their revenue from the extraction or production of oil, natural gas or thermal coal specialized oil and natural gas transportation (eg. pipelines) oil refining or coal-based energy production. In the latter case, investments might be considered if the company publicly shows a commitment to reducing, within a reasonable time horizon, the portion of coal in its energy mix for the purpose of energy transition.

The SocieTerra line also includes thematic funds with a focus on environmental solutions, such as the Desjardins SocieTerra Cleantech Fund, which only invests in companies that earn at least 50% of their income from environmental solutions. Moreover, in 2023, Desjardins Investments has set the ambition to reach net zero emissions by 2050 for all funds and portfolios, in line with the objectives of the Paris Agreement. To lay out the foundations of our net zero strategy, Desjardins Investments has become a signatory of the Net Zero Asset Manager initiative, specifically committing to:
Working in partnership with members and clients on decarbonization goals, consistent with an ambition to reach net zero emissions by 2050 or sooner across all assets under management.

Set an interim target for the proportion of assets to be managed in line with the attainment of net zero emissions by 2050 or sooner.

Review our interim target at least every five years, with a view to ratcheting up the proportion of AUM covered until 100% of assets are included.

To read the full commitment, please follow this link: <https://www.netzeroassetmanagers.org/commitment/>. Desjardins Investments is currently working on developing such interim targets and aims to publish them in 2024.

When conducting our qualitative climate risk assessment, we used the Network for Greening the Financial System (NGFS) scenarios to apply our findings to three types of scenarios: Hot House World, Disorderly Transition and Orderly Transition. Both the Orderly and Disorderly transition scenarios considered the average temperature rise reaching below 2°C above pre-industrial levels. Using such scenarios helped us identify changes and similarities in how climate-related risks materialize under different circumstances. Physical risks as identified in PGS41 were found to be the highest in a Hot House World scenario, with similarities under the two other scenarios, while transition risks as identified in PGS41 were found to be the highest in a disorderly transition scenario.

PGS 44	CORE	N/A	N/A	PUBLIC	Climate change	General

Does your organisation have a process to identify, assess, and manage the climate-related risks (potentially) affecting your investments?

(A) Yes, we have a process to identify and assess climate-related risks

(1) Describe your process

Desjardins Investments' own process to identify and assess climate-related risks is built on a qualitative assessment of such risks. We start by assessing significant geographic and sectorial exposures of our portfolios as a whole, and by best-selling portfolio individually.

We then conduct research on the physical and transition risks (impact, exposure) affecting these specific sectors and geographies our investments are significantly exposed to.

This allows us to build our first heatmaps for physical and transition risks relative to these sectors, by geography. While our first heatmap for physical risks assumes a Hot House World scenario, the first one for transition risks considers a Disorderly transition scenario. At this stage, we also compare our heatmaps with those of peers' TCFD reports.

We then decline our heatmap for the Hot House World scenario into Disorderly and Orderly transition scenarios using NGFS & Climate Analytics' Climate Lab Data Explorer for physical risks.

We do the same for transition risks, starting from the heatmap for the Disorderly transition scenarios using NGFS assumptions to create heatmaps of transition risks under an Orderly transition and a Hot House World.

The final heatmaps are shared and discussed with Desjardins Investments' Responsible Investing Team, the Sustainable Development and Responsible Finance team (organization-wide team), and the Working group on climate change risks (organization-wide 1st line of defence).

These heatmaps allow us to identify which climate-related risks could affect our investments, and assess the level at which they could (low, moderate, high).

Separately, we participate to the organization-wide climate risk assessment through workshops and by sharing our findings with the sustainable finance team in charge of this assessment.

(2) Describe how this process is integrated into your overall risk management

Desjardins Investments participates in the organization-wide climate-related risks assessment organized by the Sustainable Development and Responsible Finance team as well as the Risk Management team to ensure adequate integration of climate risks in overall risk management.

Moreover, oversight for ESG risks and climate is now formally included in Desjardins Investments' Board of Directors mandate.

(B) Yes, we have a process to manage climate-related risks

(1) Describe your process

Subsequent steps to identifying and assessing climate-related risks depend on the conclusions of the assessment. On an annual basis, Desjardins Investments will review geographic and sectoral exposures to include any sector or geography that it is significantly exposed to that was not included in previous assessments. When risks identified are considered to be material, they will be escalated in the governance structure and recommendations will be made to appropriately manage these risks. Desjardins Investments also sends out an ESG due diligence questionnaire to asset managers to collect information on how they manage climate-related risks. If deemed necessary and according to their responses, Desjardins Investments could engage with asset managers to better understand or enhance their climate risk management for our investments.

(2) Describe how this process is integrated into your overall risk management

Desjardins Investments has adopted a guideline on managing climate-related risks to ensure adequate integration of such risks in overall risk management. According to this guideline, if necessary, approaches to manage or mitigate climate-related risks may include exclusions, engagement, diversification, or might stem from an organization-wide initiative. Practices to support better climate-related risk management would go through Desjardins Investments' Responsible Investment Steering Committee, which, among other functions, oversees the sound management of ESG and climate-related risks. Desjardins Investments' Board of Directors is ultimately responsible for overseeing climate-related risks.
